North Dakota Crop Improvement and Seed Association (NDCISA) is a non-profit organization supported by county dues, certified seed grower membership and check-offs from the seed increase program. NDCISA works closely with the Experiment Stations, State Seed Department and the Extension Services to promote general crop improvement practices and increase varieties best adapted to the state, and to make the seed easily available to the state farmers.

NDCISA actively supports research, extension and educational programs at NDSU and throughout North Dakota. Development and implementation of practical and scientific crop production practices is encouraged. NDCISA serves as the communication link for North Dakota crop producers in legislative matters relating to production and marketing of their commodities. Sponsorship of youth activities such as the 4-H crops judging contest at the North Dakota Winter Show are common practice.

NDCISA has been instrumental in production and distribution of new varieties. Our organization coordinates with ND Foundation Seedstocks and County Crop Improvement Associations during new variety releases and increases. Through certified seed promotional money, we encourage the use of quality seed with an advertising campaign, promotional giveaways and crop shows.

In these changing times, the agricultural community needs to remain unified and strong. NDCISA is a strong, supportive group that will fight for the North Dakota farmer.

Annual availability of these scholarships contingent upon the approval of NDCISA Board of Directors.*
